RE: Swaziland's Notification on Import Permits Required for Importation of Certain Products and Levies Charged

A) Imported Scheduled Agricultural Products

The National Agricultural Marketing Board (NAMBOARD) is an organization responsible for the issuance of permits and collection of levy on scheduled agricultural products imported to Swaziland. These requirements are imposed on such import mainly to protect local industry and in the process develop local capacity to produce these products. NAMBOARD was established by an Act of parliament (Act No. 13 of 1985) to issue permits and collect levies on scheduled agricultural products.

Procedures for applying for permit

- A trader should have a trading license and should apply stating his business address and contact details for traceability,
- Applications should be addressed to the contact address stated below;
- The permit will only be obtained once the levy is paid to NAMBOARD and is valid for 30 days.
- Where an applicant is not granted the permit, they can appeal to NAMBOARD itself or take their appeal to the Ministry of Agriculture for the attention of the Principal Secretary. Usually an application is rejected if there is enough local production to meet demand.
- Where changes have to be made to this Act, NAMBOARD writes to the Ministry of Agriculture who then recommends to the Attorney General's office to effect the necessary amendments which are then issued through a Legal Notice passed through Parliament. Stakeholders are notified at least a month before changes are effected.

B) Measures Imposed on Imports of Scheduled Dairy Products

The importation of Dairy products requires an import permit and that a levy be charged on these products. The Swaziland Dairy Board (SDB) is an established organization mandated by the Dairy Act of 1968 to amongst other things issue import permits and charge levy for all scheduled imported dairy products. Other legislations which controls SDB's operations are the Animal Disease Act of 1965 and the Trading Licence Order of 1975.

The aim and purpose of imposing import permits and charging levy is to protect human and animal health and to protect the local dairy industry. These measures are however reviewed periodically to determine the stage of development of the local dairy industry and to also assess possible human and animal health risk suspected. Where amendments on this regulations have to be made, consultations are undertaken with relevant key stakeholders who seats in the Dairy Industry Stakeholder Coordinating Committee (DISCC). This Committee has representatives from consumers, retailers, manufactures and producers, government and others. The representatives are given 90 days to make their submissions to any possible changes to the regulations.

Where the an applicant has been unjustly refused an import permit, the appeal process is there and is goes through the following stages;

- Permits Clerk (stage 1)
- Quality Control Manager
- Chief Executive Officer
- The Board of Directors of SDB
- The Minister of Agriculture
